Interesting Skills

CTF experience, As I enjoy hacking, I often participate in CTFs. When I played with RPISEC we even made it to the world championships of hacking: Defcon CTF. Twice! We were top 10 in 2018! Currently I primarily play with Shellphish and Pwndevils.

Hacking, Specifically I am passionate about binary exploitation. I enjoy figuring out subtle or elegant ways to break things, especially when I use a system's own infrastructure to do so.

Linux Internals, Part of hacking is understanding a system very well; to that end I know quite a lot about the internals of Linux. I often read kernel code to figure out how to solve a CTF challenge.

C++ Template Meta-Programming, I enjoy the ability to code in an amazingly versatile, super-fast, compile-time, pure functional sub-language within C++, which is my favorite language.

Computational Mathematics Implementation, I know how to implement mathematics on computers to avoid floating point errors and how to optimize many matrix operations / calculations for speed.

Basic conversational Spanish, Much of my family is fluent in Spanish so I can hold a conversation in it.
